ATTORNEY PROFILE

R. David DiJulio is the Managing Partner of DiJulio Law Group and has led the firm since 1985. He represents clients in real estate, construction, business and commercial law, land use, zoning, environmental, mediation, and litigation matters throughout Glendale, Los Angeles, California, and Montana.

David has decades of experience helping clients protect property rights, resolve complex disputes, navigate transactions, and address legal issues involving significant financial, regulatory, environmental, or business risk. His practice is litigation-focused, with extensive experience in matters involving property disputes, construction issues, business conflicts, land use concerns, and environmental claims.

His background includes litigation, mediation, environmental science, business law, real estate law, and service as a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Pro Tem. He is also a Pepperdine-trained mediator, giving clients the benefit of both courtroom experience and practical dispute-resolution strategy in matters that require judgment, preparation, and careful legal analysis.
